

Your Life Path Number remains with you throughout life because it is derived from your birthdate, which never changes. You will face different aspects of your particular Life Path at different times, but the underlying lesson will remain the same. The positive aspects of your number are the skills and abilities you should be utilizing, as they indicate your special gifts and talents. The negative aspects of the Life Path number are characteristics you must learn to balance.

LIFE PATH NUMBER 1

You are a leader and an initiator. The best in life comes to you when you accept roles of responsibility and authority. Strength and individuality are your trademarks; others have always seen it, and you wear it well when you choose to display it. Be confident, original and willing to stand alone if you have to.

You should not accept compromise in pursuing your direction in life, however, if this non-compromising attitude carries over to social interactions, you will alienate others through over-aggressiveness. You will be Number 1 at something in your life. Express yourself with pride, flair, and courage. These attributes will help give you confidence in yourself.

Your greatest obstacle is that of being too arrogant and self-centered, leaving no room in your life for anyone other than an appreciative audience.

LIFE PATH NUMBER 2

Relationships are the key to your life. You are not interested in living your life alone, only in sharing it with a partner. You make an excellent worker because of your willingness to accept guidance and your eagerness to please. You are quite willing to protect and sustain loved ones. You respond to the needs of the moment. You are resilient to the point of being able to pull through the worst of any crisis. You are willing to cooperate and share in a relationship, but you expect results and equality.

Your challenge is one of learning how to incorporate the opinions of others without giving up personal integrity. Express your feelings as they come up. You are moody and need to occasionally remind yourself to let go of the past and move on.

LIFE PATH NUMBER 3

You are the communicator, the optimist, and the proverbial student of life. Self-expression is your key to happiness. New projects excite and grab your attention. When you are excited, that energy easily spills over to those with whom you come in contact. Watch that you don't spread yourself too thin with all of your varied interests. You are versatile, easily excitable, and the person who always wants MORE from life. Because you are adaptable and generally fun to be with, you are often found among a group of friends. You are popular and defined as inspirational. Your versatility is a talent that should be utilized through your work.

Watch out for being a dilettante. Learn to put depth into your studies. Your test is one of finishing at least a portion of the projects you begin without stretching yourself to the breaking point. The phrase "too many irons in the fire," was probably inspired by the actions of a number 3. Your desire is to grow, expand, learn, teach, and to be more than you were in your past.

LIFE PATH NUMBER 4

A hard worker with a highly developed sense of responsibility, you are the solid individual whose work can benefit an entire community. Life doesn't seem to come easy for you, but this is a source of strength. What you have is what you have created for yourself. It could be said that you thrive on adversity, but wanting to work for what you get is closer to the truth. You will only accept that which you have earned, and you are not seeking a "free ride" in any area of your life. You are organized, hard-working, steady, and willing to follow the necessary routines to accomplish goals. You have an excellent ability to concentrate and the tenacity not to give up on a project until it is completed.

Your inner growth and development are more important to you than what you are doing with your outer, social life. Your life has been marked by struggle, but patience, devotion, and endurance will be the keynotes to your success. Avoid becoming stoic and rigid.

LIFE PATH NUMBER 5

You are bright, clever, alert, and the most versatile of the numbers. There is a rapid and continual turnover in the events of your life which has forced you to develop your keen sense of adaptability. You crave new experiences and bore easily with routines. You are a natural at any type of communication and could easily be found in a profession of writing, speaking, or sales. It is the breadth of experience which you have accumulated that makes you fascinating in the eyes of others. Watch leaving a trail of unfinished projects and incomplete relationships in your wake.

Your challenge is to tame your fickle nature and recognize and sustain that which is valuable in your life. Adding depth to your involvements and adventures can offer more fulfillment to your life.

LIFE PATH NUMBER 6

You know how to enjoy the good things in life, and are known for your cultured taste. You exhibit refinement and style in your speech, your dress, and in your home surroundings. Justice, balance, and harmony are the crucial elements of your expression. You have an excellent feel for colors and appreciation for both art and music. Strong family ties offer cohesiveness and meaning to your life. Quality time with a few select friends in your own home is a favorite pastime.

Your main challenge is that of learning the flexibility that true sharing requires. Once you accept situations and relationships exactly as they are, without trying to make any improvements, you become happier. Yes, you need to defend and protect that which you value, but you must periodically review your values to see if they are consistent with your life goals.

LIFE PATH NUMBER 7

You are eccentric, unusual, aloof, but amazingly friendly. Even as a child, you valued your privacy, a quality that remains with you throughout your life. You are a dreamer, idealistic, mystical and always a philosopher. No one really knows what is going on inside of you as you are not the type to share your secrets. Meditation and quiet time are essential if you are to understand the deeper mysteries of life and the internal questions that plague you. It is through these that you preserve your individuality as the key to happiness and fulfillment. There are many times when you will feel like a misfit in the world, which may be because you are searching for more meaning to life than others or simply rebel against being one of the ordinary.

Your challenge is one of developing warmth and emotional intimacy with your loved ones. You are unusually bright, intelligent, and perceptive. You are often misunderstood by those who claim to know you best. Freedom is your ticket to happiness.

LIFE PATH NUMBER 8

You are efficient, organized, and a hard worker. Serious and goal-minded, you can be depended upon to carry through with obligations. Your tendency is to take on more and more responsibility. Use your ability to delegate authority to keep from becoming over-burdened. Your excellent managerial skills and your drive for success and control will place you at the top of your chosen profession. You can become fascinated with your own power and will be attracted to others of great power. For maximum growth you must remain humble and thankful for the respect and trust that others place in you.

Your challenge is one of right use of power. Be aware of what you are willing to sacrifice to get to the top. Leadership and success are yours when you harness and temper your tremendous drive for achievement and recognition. It will be yours if you are patient and understanding of the real responsibility of being able to exert your will over others.

LIFE PATH NUMBER 9

You are the dreamer, the artist, the genius, and, at times, the martyr. Yours is a path of empathy for misunderstood. You have experienced much confusion in establishing a foundation for your life. It is the school of life that has offered you your greatest education. Your keen perception allows you to immediately see through phonies and pierce facades, as you are seeking contact with the real essence of life. Being the most complex of the numbers you are difficult to understand because of the depth of your sensitivity and awareness.

You are compassionate and extremely sensitive to your emotional environment which causes extreme shifts in your moods. Fulfillment comes from being needed, appreciated, and being involved in some sort of service. You have deep, intense, but often short-live involvements. You do your work...then move on. Yours is a life of extremes, and you are known for your sensitivity and caring.

LIFE PATH MASTER NUMBER 11

As the first of the Master Numbers, you are the Master Student, the idealist who is on a quest for meaning. A seeker of truth, you are willing to jump into any class, teaching, or walk of life that offers potential hope and insight. Others look to you for guidance and you are a natural instructor. There are times when your enthusiasm borders on fanaticism and becomes tiring, but listening to your keen intuition can thwart problems in this area. The life you lead will be the ultimate teaching you impart to the world.

Number 11 also reduces to a number 2, and 11s must learn the lessons of cooperation before they can serve as a voice of inspiration for others. It is the special task of 11s to keep the dreams, visions, and hopes of others alive.
